Welcome to Place des Arts— your Maillardville cultural hub!

Place des Arts has many inspiring events, performances and exhibitions on offer for 2016/17, and we invite you to join in and experience the arts! Several long-standing favourites are back, such as A Celebration of Robbie Burns, our inspiring Salon Speaker Series and, of course, our popular Family Day at PdA! plus a new addition—Teen Day!

We have some marvelous Just for Adults events to explore, where you can unleash your creativity in a playful and social environment: N.O.T.A! a night of the arts and, new this year, Festive Felting and PechaKucha 20 x 20.

Our galleries and Artisan Shop feature the work of local emerging artists. Drop by one of our Friday night gallery openings and enjoy a glass of wine while you peruse the artwork and browse the shop!

And to celebrate Coquitlam's 125th anniversary, we present Capture Coquitlam, a special exhibition showcasing artwork by local artists capturing their unique experiences and exploring their creative vision of the city of Coquitlam.

Take a look through our guide. I'm certain you'll find something to spark your own creative flame!

BECKETT . . . BITS & BYTES

Featuring Peter Grasso; Directed by Michael Fera

Krapp's Last Tape is the outrageous title of an outrageous play. Imagine! A feeble, nearly blind and deaf, solitary and half-drunk man, crouching in a squalid room, subsisting on bananas and playing to himself old tape recordings of his own voice. Is this theatre? Yes, it is Beckett!

DR. RICK DORFER

FRIDAY, JANUARY 20, 2017 • 7:00pm

Rick explores the concept of inspiration and how it weaves through his multi-faceted career as a musician. A violinist with the Vancouver Opera and conductor with the Vancouver Youth Symphony Orchestra, Rick also maintains a large violin studio and is regularly invited to adjudicate festivals and give master classes. As a music arranger, Rick uses music to captivate the imagination and encourage creativity in young musicians. This thought provoking evening will include audience participation.

DR. CELESTE SNOWBER

FRIDAY, APRIL 7, 2017 • 7:00pm

Celeste is a dancer, writer, poet and Associate Professor in the Faculty of Education at Simon Fraser University. Celeste will explore how deepening our relationships with our bodies and our senses can break open vistas of inspiration for writers, performers and artists. She will uncover what it means to create from the inside out and integrate the mundane and magic of our daily lives as a way to access the muse within. Celebrating the body in its limits, beauty and paradox, she will weave dance, story, comedy and the poetic to reclaim creating and living with passion from the inside out. Celeste will perform several pieces and improvise using contributions from the audience.

KAREN GOODFELLOW

FRIDAY, MAY 26, 2017 • 7:00pm

Artist Karen Goodfellow thrives on creativity and is fascinated by the inner workings of the creative process. In this presentation, Karen will unmask and lay bare the romantic notion of an artist's inner and outer world. She will discuss the agony and the ecstasy of the artist's journey through a start-to-finish multi-media exposé on what it really takes to put on a solo art show. On an internal level, Karen will reveal a glimpse into the role of the Muse and discuss the Inner Critic—the speed bumps it poses as well as its positive role in the creative process. On an external level, we will get a glimpse of all aspects of putting on a successful show.
